Tina Odjaghian, Esq. is in private practice specializing in catastrophic injury litigation with an emphasis on brain injury. Mrs. Odjaghian and her associates have successfully secured multi million dollars in settlements and awards on behalf of catastrophically injured individuals. On the defense side, Mrs. Odjaghian represents a select group of insurance companies and self-insured employers in workers' compensation and employment matters. She has a great deal of knowledge in workers' compensation and working with case managers. Ms. Odjaghian will discuss case management services in cases involving brain injury from a legal perspective and how to effectively assess the needs of catastrophically injured patients with consideration of common legal and medical issues.

Objectives of the Program:

At the end of this presentation, the attendants will be able to:

1. Identify the common legal issues involving case management services in brain injury cases.
2. Describe the do's and don'ts for case managers from an attorney's perspective.
3. Analyze examples of good and bad case management services from case studies.

Dear Members and Friends,

It's hard to believe that June and July just swept by us so quickly. Many families are getting their children ready to return to school. Here at RNS we are excited to continue bringing you the most interesting speakers.

Your RNS Board of Directors have many people to thank for the past few meetings. In May we were hosted by Kindred Healthcare in Baldwin Park with a beautifully presented lunch buffet. Then Dr. Chai Lam, entertained and enlightened us on the Management of COPD. Casa Colina Hospital and A+ Healthcare Marketing provided great raffle prizes.

In July we were pleased to have a very interesting presentation by Celeste Racicote, Nancy Porcella and Lisa Jones addressing a very difficult topic of "Brain Injury and Addiction Issues." This presentation generated a very interactive conversation and provided many helpful resources. If any of our members would like a copy of those resources, please contact any Board member and we will get that info for you. We also thank CNS, Casa Colina Hospital and A+ Healthcare Marketing for providing raffle gifts.

As for the future, your Board has some exciting news. However, you need to attend the meetings to find out what it is. We are still looking for facilities and/or vendors who would like to host future meetings in 2018. If you are interested please contact a Board member for details.

We hope you have enjoyed this beautiful summer weather here in Southern California and we look forward to seeing you at our next meeting on August 24, 2017 when Tina Odjaghian, Esq. is our presenter.

Remember that RNS Advocates for Quality Healthcare is an organization that has been offering BRN and CCM continuing education credits for many years and we want to continue to do so. Please attend and bring a friend. We not only offer CEUs, but also provided excellent networking opportunities.
